ACQUITTAL VERDICT RETURNED BY JURY IN BLANTON CASE

Hon. Thomas L. Blanton

The jury in the case of Thomas L. Blanton, congressman from this district, on trial in the county court here on a charge of criminal libel, brought in a verdict of not guilty at a few minutes after 8 o'clock last night.

The case went to the jury at five o'clock yesterday evening, the verdict being returned three hours later.

The case occupied four days, having been called for trial Monday morning, and the court room was filled with a crowd interested in following the proceedings at every session.

Blanton was charged, by indictment returned by the last grand jury in this county, as has been stated before in the Chief, with having libeled Oscar Callaway of Comanche, who was then his opponent in the race for congress, in an advertisement published in the Cisco Daily News on July 16, 1922. Under the law in case of conviction the defendant could have been fined not less than $100 or more than $2,000, or imprisoned in the county jail for not more than two years.

County Attorney Ghent Sanderford was assisted in the prosecution by Gib Callaway of Eastland, formerly of Comanche, brother of Oscar Callaway. Blanton was represented by T. Vard Woodruff of Sweetwater, who took the lead in conducting the defense, by K. K. Legett, R. W. Haynie, E. N. Kirby and Fred Cockrell, all of Abilene, and J. G. Bishop of Gorman.

There was a maze of legal questions, motions, objections and bills of exceptions from the very beginning and it was noted when the state and defense had both rested their cases at a little after noon Wednesday there had been scarcely more than thirty minutes of actual testimony before the jury on both sides. A number of times the jury had been withdrawn while certain questions were argued or while testimony was taken for the purpose of getting it into the record for the bills of exception.

The first step by the attorneys for the defense was a motion to recuse the court and have him certify his disqualification to the governor on the alleged grounds that he, Judge F. J. Reese, was a friend and political supporter of Oscar Callaway.

Overruling this motion Judge Reese said that if he did not believe that he could go on the bench and give this defendant or any other man a fair and impartial trial he would not only declare himself disqualified in this case but would resign his office as judge and quit the bench entirely.

The next motion by the defense was to suppress the indictment on the grounds that Oscar Callaway was the only witness before the grand jury when the indictment was returned and that he was not sworn.

The next motion was quash the indictment. Both of these being overruled, motion was made to quash the jury panel on the claim that the jury commission had been selected by the court alleged to be a friend and supporter of Oscar Callaway, that three commissioners chosen were each a friend of political supporter of Oscar Callaway, and that of the 24 jurors drawn for the week for which the Blanton trial was set 20 of them were political supporters of Oscar Callaway and only four of them political supporters of Thomas L. Blanton.

Judge Reese stated that he did not know how the members of the jury commission selection jurors for this court stood politically, that he had nothing to do with selecting the jury, and that having lived in Comanche for 27 years and knowing the citizens of the county as he did, he believed that if any six men went into the jury box and said they would give any man a fair and impartial trial they would do it.

Later Marion Wilkerson, a member of the last jury commission, was called to the stand and testified as to the manner in which the jurors for this term of court were selected.

These motions having been made and overruled the defense offered a motion for continuance of the case stating that several witnesses whom they desired to use were not present, though diligence had been used to have them present. A statement was made as to what it was desired and intended to prove by each of the witnesses named, and was shown that the purpose of their testimony was to prove the truth of the alleged assertions or charges made by Blanton against Callaway. The motion was overruled on the grounds that this testimony would be immaterial to the issue, under the law.

The court held throughout the trial that testimony as to the truth or falsity of the charges as alleged to have been made by the defendant against Mr. Callaway was not admissible under the law, since the alleged charges failed to name any date or place at which the acts so charged to have been committed were committed.

The legal battle continued with a clash at every step of the proceedings when the examination of the jurors for purpose of selecting the jury was begun. Each was asked whether or not he had been in favor of the war States against Germany in 1917, and whether or not he was in favor of supporting those prosecuting the war four months after that date. Each was asked also as to whether he had voted for Callaway or Blanton in congressional campaigns in this district. When thirteen veniremen had been examined, one had been declared disqualified, leaving twelve from which the six jurors to try the case might be taken after each side had exercised its privilege of three peremptory challenges. At this point the defense made another attempt to disqualify the jury on the grounds that out of the first thirteen examined, and from which the jury must be chosen twelve were supporters politically of Oscar Callaway, the alleged injured in the prosecution.

The members of the jury selected were C. F. Horner, John Bartlett, C. F. Denny, W. J. Rhymes, E. L. Butler and Albert Duke.

The jury was completed at about five o'clock Tuesday evening. The de-

JAS. E. FERGUSON ADDRESSES LARGE COMANCHE CROWD

James E. Ferguson, former governor of Texas, who was in the city as a witness in the Blanton trial, addressed a large crowd in the district court room Tuesday afternoon, an invitation having been extended him to make a speech and Judge Reese suspending court for the time on the suggestion of quite a number of people that they would like to hear the former governor speak.

One of the new things brought out by Governor Ferguson in his address was the fact that he is for Ford for president. This was mentioned incidentally in his discussion of some other subjects. He said that government expenses must be reduced, and said that one of his remedies for the legislative and governmental ills of the present as he saw them was to elect farmers to two-thirds of the legislative positions in the country. He declared that this was reasonable because of the large proportion of farmers in the citizenship of the country generally.

He stated his opposition to the Ku Klux as has been reported in his various speeches in the state.

The running of the levels has been completed for cement sidewalks that are to be built for two blocks on North Main street, east. The walks are to run from the Methodist church to a connection with the walk extending from the square along the south side of the Burks building.

Railroad Man On Tour of U. S. Visits Relatives Here

Among the recent interesting visitors in Comanche is the name of Uncle Dan Seger of Dickson, Tennessee, who was here a couple of weeks ago with his niece, Mrs. L. L. Norwood, and family. He also visited his brother, R. E. Seger, and his niece, Mrs. Chas. Weber, at De Leon.

Mr. Seger, a retired railroad man with a record of thirty-five years' service behind him, is now enjoying a pension from the road by which he was employed so long, and exercising the transportation privileges which he now possesses he is making a visit to the various states of the Union. He had already visited some forty-four or forty-five states before coming to Texas.

This was Mr. Seger's first visit to Texas; and this was the first time, he said that he had ever seen any boll weevils, the big grasshoppers, or horned frogs. However, he found much in Texas, and in the section about Comanche, that pleased him very much.

Mr. Seger is now 75 years old and most of his long time in the railroad work was spent in building depots and section houses in the northern states.

DOING GOOD WORK WITH INSURANCE COMPANY

W. H. Carpenter was in Comanche a few days this week, having been summoned as a witness in the Blanton trial. He has been at Plano for the last few weeks, representing the Manhattan Life Insurance Company, which is said to be the oldest now doing business in Texas. He is doing organization work with the company and it has been learned that in the short two months that he has been with them he has become one of the half dozen of the best producers with the company in Texas.

Mr. Carpenter will continue in Collin county, he stated, until the first of January, and then will return to West Texas to be nearer to Comanche, as he will still make his home here.

If you want any kind of land on the Plains see J. R. Eanes & Co. They have it for sale and trade.

Motorists are now finding a nice stopping place and camping conveniences at the tourist park.

Let's go on to other accomplishments for Comanche.

The ladies have held a meeting this week to make their plans for the big historical pageant at the fair.

Let's co-operate to make this and all other features of the fair the biggest possible success.

DISTRICT MEETING HELD BY REBEKAHS AND ODD FELLOWS

LARGE CROWD IN ATTENDANCE
AT TWO DAYS SESSION
HERE

AT DE LEON NEXT YEAR

Mrs. Alexander, President State Rebekah Assembly, Among the Visitors

Comanche Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were the hosts to a large number of members of those orders who assembled here this week for a two days meeting of the Central West Texas I. O. O. F. and Rebekah Association.

Over two hundred visitors were in the city Wednesday, the opening day of the meeting, coming from the five counties comprised in the association and from several other points in the state. The meeting began with an enjoyable open session in which a welcome was extended to the city by Mayor J. R. Eanes and representatives of the local lodges. The welcome address as given by Mr. Eanes appears in another part of this paper.

Yesterday evening it was said by some of the visitors who have attended many meetings of these orders that this was one of the best meetings of the kind that they had ever attended.

Officers of the association were elected yesterday afternoon for ensuing year as follows:

Judge Pieratte, president, Coleman; B. J. Pittman, first vice president, De Leon; Mrs. Tom Glover, second vice president, Brownwood; Mrs. W. D. Carroll, secretary, Comanche; Mrs. Richardson, treasurer, Santa Anna.

The next meeting will be held at De Leon.

The social features of the meeting were very enjoyable and especially so each noon and evening when the meals were served in the Burks building, recently purchased by the Odd Fellows' lodge here for its home.

When the convention opened Wednesday morning the invocation was offered by Dr. C. C. Klingman, pastor of the Central Christian church, and the address of welcome on behalf of the city was made by the mayor, as stated, that on behalf of the Odd Fellows by W. D. Carroll and one behalf of the Rebekahs by Mrs. J. E. Miller. Responses to these addresses were made by Dr. Hillsman of Brownwood and B. J. Pittman of De Leon.

Mrs. Alexander of Cisco, state president of the Rebekah Assembly, and a woman greatly beloved among the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs throughout Texas, also spoke at the opening session. Mrs. Alexander was paid a beautiful tribute when a number of little girls beautifully and quaintly dressed gave a drill in which her name was spelled and presented her with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

The meeting of the association proved very interesting and enjoyable throughout and the visitors will be given a hearty welcome to Comanche whenever they may come again.

Tuesday of last week the Sidney people met for the purpose of devising some plan by which they could induce some one to place a gin here. A. L. McDaniel of Sipe Springs made them a proposition to move his gin from Gap under certain conditions, which seemed to be satisfactory except the one that in regard to deed to the old gin site of the farmers gin, he wanting a clear deed to land, while the board of directors propose to deed him land so long as is used for gin purposes. This caused a hitch, which from a business standpoint, is a small matter when we consider the valuation it would add to the property of those who own it, and we should consider under present conditions a man is taking a great risk in putting up a gin here, not whether there will be any cotton to gin.

W. H. (better known as Grandpa) Reece passed to his reward at 5 o'clock Tuesday, July 17, at the home of his son, E. A. Reece, where he has made his home since the death of his devoted wife several years ago at the age of 76 years, after a lingering illness of seven or eight months, during which time he was confined to his room most of the time. What The Farmer Said

A prominent farmer came to mill last Tuesday and bought his flour and meal. He hasn't, on the two farms he owns, any good wheat land, so we asked him why not buy wheat this year and put it in the mill for his bread needs. He replied: "That's just what I am going to do. I told one of my neighbors yesterday that if we farmers would do as we ought, not a grain of this wheat crop would be shipped away. We lose money both ways when it is." No "bunk" in that is there?

DAVIS K. DOYLE Editor

City Marshal Arthur gives notice to the people of Comanche to cut the weeds on their premises, where that duty has not already been performed, as the law requires. There is a double reason for complying with the request. If we did not realize that the weeds are a very bad thing for the city from the standpoint of sanitation and civic pride, it would still be the proper thing to cut them as good law abiding citizens. But since it is generally accepted as a fact that weeds are a disgrace to a town, they ought to be cut whether there is an ordinance requiring it or not. Taking both together, it is doubly important that everybody who has neglected to cut the weeds take heed to the marshal's admonition and do so at once.

A municipal park does about as much as any one thing to promote civic pride and encourage teamwork among the citizens of a town in the opinion of W. T. Harris of Belton, who was visiting her last week. When a municipality has a well equipped park, every inhabitant points to it with pride; let visitors come and they are shown the park first, Mr. Harris says.

Mr. Harris spoke of the city park in Belton, which was established by a bond issue. Because of their beautiful, well equipped park nearly one thousand members of the Christian church in Texas go there for their annual summer encampment. The making of this park awakened the town and gave the citizens a co-operative spirit never felt before.

You may sometimes have heard it remarked that the people of Comanche do not work together. A move here similar to that which Belton made, would have the same effect on the people. "Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm."

PHYSICAL RATING SHOWS NO GAIN SINCE WORLD WAR

Washington, July 22.—Physical statistics of the war department drawn from the summer military training camps a year ago, apparently sustain the showing made in the wartime draft examinations that from five to six out of every 10 young Americans suffer with more or less serious physical defects. To offset that condition the records disclose that during even the brief two weeks of the training period, it was possible to make substantial improvement in the general condition of the men at the camps.

Out of more than 23,000 men examined for admission to the camps last year, 4.1 per cent had to be rejected for proposal defects. In addition, 470 men in every 1,000 were found to have defects that hampered them but which could be expected to yield to treatment and ultimately corrected. They were retained at the camps. Only two deaths were recorded at the camps last year. Medical officers ascribe this unusually low rate, however, to the fact that the government looked upon the boys as "loaned by their parents to the country," for the camp period and took extraordinary precautions. They received medical attention for minor ailments that would never have brought them to a doctor's notice in civil life.

WOMEN PAY TRIBUTE

TO SUSAN ANTHONY

Rochester, N. Y., July 22.—The grave of Susan B. Anthony, who for all her more than sixty years' residence here was the leader of the feminist movement in America, Sunday became the shrine of thousands of women representing every state in the union.

Three hundred delegates to the conference of the National Women's party at Seneca Falls arrived here Sunday for the pilgrimage, with this tribute, bringing to a close the party's celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the first woman's rights convention.

After luncheon with the Chamber of Commerce, the delegates marched through flag-bedecked streets to Mount Hope cemetery, heading a procession of thousands of women of this city and vicinity.

The procession took several hours to pass the grave of the great feminist leader. Each pilgrim, as she passed the grave, placed upon it a wreath or a flower.

OLD GRAY MARE BAND TO WELCOME GEN. GOURAUD

Brownwood, Texas, July 23.—Information was received here that the Old Gray Mare Band had been invited to assist in welcoming Gen. Gouraud on the occasion of his visit to Houston within the next few days and has accepted the invitation. The band is now at Austin attending military maneuvers and will proceed to Houston from Camp Mabry, in all probability.

BALMORHEA'S FIRST BIG RAIN IN SEVERAL YEARS

Balmerhea, Reeves Co., Texas, July 23.—The man who has placed his money on West Texas, more especially the Pecos and Toyah Valley section, has made no mistake this year.

Some folks have the opinion that it never rains in this part of the state, and it is a fact that not until Saturday and Sunday had rain favored some parts of this country for from two to five years.

It's different now. The canyons and creeks and gulleys and branches and highways in some places are flowing with water as the result of these downpours. South of Balmerhea the precipitation was more than four inches. In this immediate section the rainfall amounted to four inches.

It was the first rain here to amount to anything in three years. The people are happy over the prospects. Tourists going to and coming from Fort Davis were confronted Monday with swimming the streams of turning backward and they chose the latter as the safest way out. For twenty-four hours the rain poured down on the mountain tops and drenched the ranches in such a way that even old Gomez Peak seemed to swallow up millions of gallons of water.

THOUSANDS IN ATTENDANCE AT FARMERS' SHORT COURSE

College Station, July 23.—Nearly 1,000 farm men, women, boys, girls and farm and home demonstration agents were registered at the opening session of fourteenth annual farmers' short course at the A. & M. College of Texas this morning, representing approximately 150 counties of the state. Director T. O. Walton of the extension service delivered the address of welcome in the absence of President W. B. Bizzell, expressing gratification at the large number in attendance for the first session, and offering assurance that the entire facilities of the institution will be offered for the success of the week's work, and that every possible effort will be expended by officers and employees of the college to make the visit of the farmers and their families pleasant and profitable. Following Walton's address, Rev. E. L. Earp, professor of sociology of Drew Theological Seminary, lectured to the assembly.

The first meeting of the shippers and carriers convention, the horticultural conference and the agricultural writers conference were held and plans completed for the week.

FOR COMMUNITY FAIRS

(Stephenville Empire)

The Empire is for the community fair and believes the time will come when there will be one held in almost every community in the county, such as is usually held in Bunyan, as announced in our news columns today for next month. At first it did not seem to the original promoters of that fair that enough competition would develop to make it interesting, but now after four years the entire neighborhood appears to be interested in getting something ready for their fair, something in which they will excel. That same spirit will come to prevail in any community that will organize a one day fair and keep it going each year like they do at Bunyan. Furthermore the friendly rivalry in the production of things for exhibition will annually make it a greater fair and the community a greater community.

FILM REVIEW

(The Chief inaugurated recently the plan of having one of its readers review each week a picture on the week's program at the Majestic Theater. Mrs. Haworth kindly consented to give the review for this issue.)

THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH

(By Mrs. A. B. Haworth)

One of the notable products of our times is the development of a new art form, the photoplay, conceded to be worthy in every way to take a place beside the older arts of music, painting, architecture and the spoken drama.

As the photodrama is still in its infancy, we are privileged to watch it reaching out constantly for new and better means of expression. We have Thomas Edison's efforts to produce a spoken photoplay; the Eastman Conservatory of Music donated for the purpose of supplying pictures an artistic musical background; and the recent efforts on the part of the producers to raise their pictures to a higher artistic level by building them about that group of simple, classic poems beloved of the whole world. Of this type is "The Village Blacksmith" presented in Comanche during the present week.

No other type of photoplay is so difficult to write or to stage. The original poem was beloved because of its genuineness, its wholesomeness and its compression. To expand a few verses to a whole tense drama and still retain the simplicity and the wholesomeness of the original is no slight task.

In "The Village Blacksmith," founded upon Longfellow's poem of the same name, we follow the daily life of our old friend, the smith as "toiling, rejoicing, sorrowing, onward through life he goes;" we smile over the school days of his children; we grieve with him over the loss of his wife, "singing in Paradise;" bear with him the burden of his hardships and rejoice in the ultimate triumph of his industry, honesty and goodwill.

Those that had the pleasure of seeing The Village Blacksmith cannot fail to commend this newer type of play. They must have felt, too, that it reached its highest points of art in those parts in which it held most closely to the sturdy, hopeful spirit of the original verses.

Acquittal Verdict Returned By Jury In Blanton Case

fense counsel stated that Governor Ferguson, who had been summoned by the defense as a witness and who had been in attendance at the court since Monday morning, wanted to meet a speaking engagement in another part of the state next evening and that with permission of the state's attorneys they would place him on the stand then, his testimony later to be introduced in the connection and at the point desired.

When questions had been propounded to the former governor concerning certain statements alleged to have been made in a speech by Callaway, the court held that the evidence was not admissible. The jury was removed from the room and the witness was questioned for the purpose of showing in the bill of exception what his testimony would have been if admitted in evidence.

After more legal clashes when court convened Wednesday morning witnesses were placed on the stand to testify in the case. R. W. L. Kennon, who editor of the Cisco Daily News in July, 1922, was called to the stand to testify concerning the receipt of the article containing the alleged libelous matter at the office of the Daily News and its publication in the newspaper.

Truman Carnes, S. C. Findley and Claud George were next placed on the stand by the state to testify concerning the circulation of certain copies of the Cisco paper containing the article upon which it was stated that the matter on which the indictment against Blanton was based.

The defense then placed on the stand J. C. Davis, oil man and hotel man of Gorman, and sought to question him concerning a speech said to have been made by Oscar Callaway at Gorman in August 1917. The court held that this testimony was inadmissible for the same reason that the testimony of Governor Ferguson had been excluded, that is, that under the statute, he held, testimony of the truth or falsity of the alleged libelous matter was not admissible.

Again the jury was withdrawn and the witness interrogated for the purpose of showing in the defendant's bill of exceptions what the testimony would have been if it had been admitted.

Davis stated in reply to questions that he had heard the speech of Callaway at Gorman and the reply made to it by Jean P. Day of Oklahoma City. The defense read names of some fifteen or sixteen other witnesses that it had intended to introduce, but which evidence it was understood would not be admitted for the same reasons as stated in reference to the testimony of Ferguson and Day.

The state rested its case at 11:25 Wednesday morning and the defense resulted at about 3 o'clock Wednesday evening. The court recessed for thirty minutes to prepare his charge and then after consulting with attorneys adjourned court until 8 o'clock Thursday morning, stating that each side would be allowed two hours and a half for its argument before the jury.

The argument for the defense was opened by County Attorney Ghent Sanderford and closed by Gib Callaway, who assisted in the prosecution.

The speeches for the defense were made by Attorneys R. W. Haynie of

Mayor Welcomes Odd Fellows and Rebekahs to City

Mayor J. R. Eanes delivered the address of welcome to the Central Texas I. O. O. F. and Rebekah Association when it convened in Comanche Wednesday morning, as follows:

"It is indeed a privilege to welcome to my town a body of men and women whose lives are dedicated to the service of their fellows, a band of men and women linked together by the ties of Friendship, Love and Truth. When a man is accorded this honor it obliges him to say something worth while. I do not know that I will be able to do that, but there are many things that come to my mind as I meditate on the temper of our people in these days.

"I am not an alarmist, neither am I a pessimist in any sense of the word. Friendship, Love and Truth will prevail, but before final victory comes there may be times that will try men's souls. It is too late to be on guard after the conflagration comes. It may then take dynamite to stop it. It is our duty to safeguard the rights of men that there may be no conflagration.

"As I think of the temper of our people throughout the land, the times and the trend of the times, two scriptures come to my mind that would be helpful to us if we would ever keep them before us: 'All flesh is as grass, and the glory thereof as the flower or grass. The grass withereth and the flower falleth, but the word of the Lord abideth forever.'

"Forever is a long time and nothing else will abide than long.

"Then, 'Where there is no vision the people perish.' The first scripture is a statement of fact no more than the latter. The first is self evident to all observing men, the latter stands out in all history.

Implanted a Vision

"Moses as he heeded the flocks of Jethro had a vision. His vision was of a free people, a people free to worship the true God, and free politically. His vision carried him back to Egypt, through all the plagues, across the Red Sea and sustained him for forty years in the wilderness. He planted it in the hearts of Joshua and other leaders of his people and it made of them a free people and a mighty nation. But in the years to come jealousy, envy and hatred, the arch enemies of Friendship, Love and Truth entered the hearts of this great people and today they are scattered to the four corners of the earth, and have been for more than two thousand years a people without a country.

"The Greeks had a vision of a great citizenship, a citizenship in a great government, ruled by justice and reason, a vision of a great race whose intellect should dominate the world. This vision carried them to the highest heights ever reached in material arts and philosophies, and they gave to the world Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle, many masters of the sculptor's art, and an architecture that will not die. But here, too, in the course of time the enemies of Friendship, Love and Truth entered the hearts of the people, the vision was eclipsed, and today we have to go to the great museums, libraries and art galleries of the world for evidences of Grecian greatness.

"Then came the Romans with a vision of a great republic where law should reign supreme, and this vision builded the great Roman empire whose power was felt throughout the known world, and whose system of laws and whose organization is still the admiration of all students of government. But here again vision was eclipsed by these arch enemies, intolerance, passion and envies and jealousies, and the Roman empire is known only to the students of history, and another civilization not so noble rests on her ruins.

Greatest of All Visions

"Then came the Christ and gave to the world the greatest of all visions. The fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. The great souls of that age caught the vision. They proclaimed it throughout the civilized world, they went to the dungeon, the stake and the block for it; and it swept throughout the land, and it looked for a time that for humanity light was breaking.

"But alas again these arch enemies, intolerance, envies and hatreds clouded this greatest of visions, and then came the dark ages. But thanks to the providence of God, in the hearts of men and women throughout those dark centuries this vision lived and was handed down from generation to generation, and these men and women said men must be brothers or all men perish, all must end in chaos.

"Then came the reformation, men saw more light; more men died at the stake. But the fires that consumed the martyrs tended to fire the spirits of men throughout the world, and it was proclaimed that to be brothers

Rheumatism Gone Says Howard; Gains 40 Pounds

"If you ask me, Tanlac is the best medicine made and everyone who has taken it on my recommendation thinks the same as I do," recently said Ed Howard, 2324 Market Ave., Ft. Worth, Texas.

"About three years ago flu left me aching all over and with rheumatism so bad in my shoulders and legs that every move I made hurt me. Even my sleep was all broken up. My stomach got out of fix, I lost my appetite and fell off thirty-five pounds in weight. I could hardly drag myself around and felt like I was pretty near done for.

"Tanlac ended all my troubles, even to the rheumatism, built me up forty pounds in weight and made me feel like a different man. Ever since then, I've felt fine except occasionally when I got a little run-down. However, Tanlac has never failed yet to build me right up and I'll never be without a bottle of it on hand."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37-million bottles sold.

men must be free, free religiously, free politically.

"But this is a long story, suffice it to say that throughout this long struggle for freedom and brotherhood those making the fight have been handicapped by intolerance, hatreds, envies, jealousies, creed and dogma. Because of them Christ's church has been able to advance but haltingly; but throughout it all men have been ever fired by the vision of brotherhood, and in this last century came Wilde and his associates who had a vision of a fraternal order where these enemies of their vision would be barred and brotherhood reign supreme, and order linked together by Friendship, Love and Truth, and a few years later came along Schuyler Colfax and his associates, the founders of the Rebekahs, and said we too should have this vision. Entreat us not, we would follow after thee, your vision shall be our vision and your work our work, where you go we will go, we would be your helpers, and they have been and are.

Brotherhood of Men

"Rebekahs, Odd Fellows, this is our task. The brotherhood of man. To it may we whole heartedly and unreservedly dedicate and consecrate our life, our means, our all. May we most firmly resolve that intolerance, envy, jealousy and hatred shall never gain the outer door. Except they be barred the brotherhood of man can not be. The brotherhood of man must be, there is no other way out. Friendship, Love and Truth must prevail or the race goes back to the jungle.

"May we ever keep in mind that 'all flesh is as grass and the glory thereof as the flower of grass. The grass withereth and the flower falleth, but the Word of God abideth forever.'

"God is Love and the Word of God is Truth, and Friendship is the child of Love and Truth. Then may I again plead that we dedicate and consecrate our life, our means, our all to these three links whereby man must be bound, else he perish."

Queer Feelings

"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Robie, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt! I read of and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles . . . and was made so much better I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."

CARDUI

Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Robie mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you.

WANTS TO HELP OTHER WOMEN

Grateful for Health Restored
by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I am willing to write to any girl or woman who is suffering from the troubles I had before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back always ached, so I could not go about my housework, and I had other troubles from weakness. I was this way for years, then my sister-in-law took the Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me. In the time I have been taking it and it has done wonders for me. I keep house and am able to do lots of work besides."—Mrs. HELEN SEVICK, 2711 Thomas St., Chicago, Ill.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years this same sort of experience has been reported by thousands of women.

Mrs. Sevick is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

COMANCHE COUNTY PARTY STILL SEEING CALIFORNIA

T. H. Jackson of Sipe Springs, from whom we had a letter a few weeks ago on his arrival in California, writes the Chief this week as follows: San Diego to Long Beach, California, is a nice drive up the ocean front on a cement road for one hundred miles with beautiful hills, some timber and the prettiest orange orchards you ever looked at on the right, mixed in with English walnut trees the size of our liveoak trees.

Long Beach is a city of 100,000 people. It also is a suburb of Los Angeles. It has a beach five miles long as straight as a gun barrel. We went on a boat ride over to Catalina Island, saw the flying fish, porpoises and a lone whale. The Mr. Whale looked bad to me, but I suppose that is natural for a man from dry land to be suspicious of the whales.

We traveled over to Los Angeles City, went to Hollywood and saw lots of pretty things there, but the city of Los Angeles is scattered for about forty miles. It claims to have the fifth place in population in the United States now. Anyway a fellow gets tired trying to see it all. We are in the fruit belt and there is some fruit here.

T. H. JACKSON.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Williams with their son and daughter, Hugh and Lucile, returned last Sunday evening from a week's visit to West Texas. They visited their farm in Gaines county and their old home at Floydada, and altogether had a very interesting and enjoyable trip.

Mr. Williams states that he has 55 acres of cotton on his Gaines county farm that is looking very fine. They visited some former Comanche friends now located in West Texas, all of whom they found doing well. Among them were George Neel, Jack Head and W. E. Legg. At Floydada they visited with their old friend, C. Surghor.

Mrs. J. E. Miller assisted at the Williams store during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Williams from the city.
